NOW, THESE ARE KITCHENS

Kathryn Bowles, Basalt

←←Designers: Michael Scott of Thurston Kitchens; consulting designers Brook Sherick of Fraiche Home and Michael Thomas of Thurston Kitchens.

Features: The floor is red-oak hardwood with five-inch planks. The stove, hood, and grill are all Viking. Every drawer pulls out and is on a softmotion glide system. All the lights are on dimmers. There are two Sub-Zero freezer drawers encased within the cabinetry. And the countertops are Bianco Romano granite.

"The fact that everything has a place and is so easy to use is my favorite thing about my kitchen. That, and of course, working with Michael Scott at Thurston's. He's amazing." —Kathryn Bowles

Amy and Gary Feldman, Snowmass Canyon, directly on the banks of the Roaring Fork River ←←Designers: Robyn Scott Interiors; 186 Lighting Design Group; John Pfeiffer at Modern Kitchen Center (cabinets); David Johnston Architects.

Features: The Feldman kitchen has a Thermador professional stove and a Sub-Zero refrigerator. The countertops are Brazilian Palladio granite that mimics the rocks of the Roaring Fork riverbed. The floor is Cooper's Mine slate, and the backsplash is made of green opera glass with an accent band of red bronze tiles.

"I love the river views. We sacrificed cabinet space for panoramic views of the Roaring Fork River. I enjoyed creating the backsplash—because it is glass, it is easy to clean—and I love the colors and the effect it creates with the reflections from the lights under the cabinets." —Amy Feldman

ASPEN ARCHITECTURAL PHOTOGRAPHY

Robyn and Craig Scott, Willits

←←Designers: Bulthaup kitchen (she bought the kitchen from a showroom before she even designed her house); Robyn Scott Interiors (yes, the same Robyn that owns the kitchen); 186 Lighting Design Group.

Features: The kitchen has Bulthaup cabinetry and Miele cooktop, dishwasher, and oven. The floor is stained concrete, and the countertops are butcher-block and stainless steel.

"My favorite thing about our kitchen is that it feels like a 'cook's' kitchen with the combination of stainless steel and butcher-block counters." —Robyn Scott
